What do attitude, energy and awareness have in common?

Leadership is defined as:

"the ability of an individual to influence, motivate and enable others to contribute to the effectiveness and success of the organisations of which they are members"

This is accomplished by mobilising Head, Heart, Body and Soul, in order to work, At, Through and With people to get things done

Attitude, energy and awareness are all key ingredients of leading in difficult situations

- Attitude gives us the can do mindset to face up to our challenges
- Energy gives us the stamina to get through the challenge
- Awareness helps us to stay behaviourally aligned during the challenge

We need to feel Confident and in Control for full Commitment to overcome the Challenge

Attitude & Leadership

- If there is no challenge there is no need for leadership; leadership is about taking people on a journey to somewhere that is significantly different from today.
- Leadership is not just about taking on challenges, it also about achieving them, being truly committed to the vision.
- Leaders need to be in control of themselves (aware of their dark side) and they need to know where they are going – they are not going somewhere by chance, they have made a conscious decision.
- Having confidence in oneself (as well as in others) is essential in developing the relationships to deal with difficult people.

We need to make sure that our determination & discipline are not seen as stubbornness and rigidity

Understanding our Mental Toughness can help us to develop our attitude

Understanding the importance of personal energy can help us to perform

Understanding our behavioural preferences can help us to be self-aware

When you are in the storm, attitude on its own is not enough, energy on its own is not enough and self-awareness on its own is not enough; however, you when you integrate all three, it's then that you can navigate the storm
