Attitude, energy and awareness are all key ingredients of leading in difficult situations

- Attitude gives us the can do mindset to face up to our challenges
- Energy gives us the stamina to get through the challenge
- Awareness helps us to stay behaviourally aligned during the challenge

We need to feel Confident and in Control for full Commitment to overcome the Challenge

We need Physical, Emotional, Mental and Spiritual energies to get through the challenge

We need to make sure that our determination & discipline are not seen as stubbornness and rigidity

Understanding our Mental Toughness can help us to develop our attitude

Understanding the importance of personal energy can help us to perform

Understanding our behavioural preferences can help us to be self-aware

When you are in the storm, attitude on its own is not enough, energy on its own is not enough and self-awareness on its own is not enough; however, you when you integrate all three, it’s then that you can navigate the storm
